Devil In The Armchair

"Devil in the armchair" is the sound of David Lynch dancing to an angry 10-stringed Norwegian fiddle accompanied by an amplified fuzz bouzouki and a dead serious pair of rootsy drums and heavy piano-bass. However, who is in the armchair, why is it suddenly empty and why is this song released in November?

Devil In The Armchair

Devil's in the armchair
He's in my head
Devil's in the armchair
He's here
He's over there
He's in my head
He's everywhere

He's asking for the car keys
Well, I don't know
He's asking for the car keys
And then I know
I do recall
He can not go

We gotta stop him
Before he gets out of the door
We gotta stop him
Before he gets out of the door
We got to stop him
Before he has one step more

We gotta stop him
Before he gets out of the door
We gotta stop him
Because he gets out of the door
We got to stop him
Before he has one step more
