

Martine Kraft & Jump Off Joe

What's Happening

In their second single Martines almost signatur like folk fiddling has a field day along with hand claps and light jamming. In the story you meet a guy that wakes up in the olden days, quite confused but eager to share his knowledge from the future. The frustration gets worse when he experiences that he cannot explain anything without access to the internet.

What's Happening

Woke up with the cat in the middle
Had to stretch my legs,
with the girly and her fiddle
It was dark enough,
and when I looked outside,
I didn't know what time it was

I saw a horse in the driveway and my car was gone Where did that tree come from I yelled to my lady "this is creepy as hell, can you tell me what's going on"

The cat she had no idea, my woman took my fever both here and there She told me to splash some water in my face, its in the bowl in the corner where it always stays

I cried no, what's happening, to me,
Hey whats happening my love?
Oh no no no whats happening, were have I been?
I don't know, hey what's happening my love

I have to tell this place, I've been seeing things
I have to tell this place, that I know things
"So show us all", they cried, "what do you know?"
"Show us all, what can we learn?"
I told them that my phone was dead,
I knew nothing without the world wide web

What's happening, to me
Hey whats happening my love?
Oh no no no whats happening, were have I been?
I don't know, hey whats happening to me
